

Tony's 500 goals

TONY Horseman's penalty against Slough on Tuesday night created a unique goalscoring record in the 90 year history of Wycombe Wanderers Football Club.

'Bodger's 54th minute spot kick was his 500th goal for the Blues — a milestone that is unlikely to be surpassed. The likeable Horseman, now 34, has been a loyal club man to Wycombe for 15 years and even he has lost count of the number of games he has played. It must be nearing the 1,000 mark.

Included in those 500 are some marvellous goals and it is four years since Tony missed a penalty — a remarkable measure of his consistency.

Here's a complete run-down on his record breaking number of goals for the club.
